

Mrs. Wm. Bell's Father Dies of Heart Failure

Fear of Telegram Excites Minister and Causes Heart Stoppage

Mr. and Mrs. William Bell were shocked Sunday to learn of the sudden death from heart failure of Mrs. Bell's father, Rev. John H. Cooper, of the Union Church of Cardiff.

Rev. Cooper was preparing to leave home for his pulpit Sunday morning when a telegram arrived. Fearing that the missive contained bad news about his daughter or grandchildren, Rev. Cooper became excited. His heart failed and he dropped dead. The telegram, which he did not open, contained information concerning a business transaction. Rev. Cooper was 67.

Mrs. Bell went immediately to Cardiff. But Mr. Bell, who is principal of the elementary school in Torrance, was forced to remain for the opening of school here, leaving Wednesday night for Cardiff.

Mrs. Cooper survives her husband. The Woman's Guild of the Episcopal Church will have a food sale at the American Fruit Market Saturday, Sept. 11, when delicious home baking will be on sale.

Short Furrows

—By KIN HUBBARD

I'm glad to see such a brilliant and far seen woman as Miss Mame Moon take a militant stand agin th' proposed child labor law. Anybuddy that kin run a livery stable at a profit these days knows her oats. An' it proves another thing—a woman don't have to be a mother to have th' right slant on child raisin'. Mothers are naturally prejudiced, an' lots o' times outsiders know more about what ought to be done with their children than they do. Miss Moon has a list o' names almost a mile long, names o' successful men an' women who worked an' worked hard when they wuz children. The Sokes held a family o' nine together when he wuz eleven years ole. Gran'maw Pash had a dad who only drank fer sociability, an' she had t' milk eleven cows when she wuz seven years ole. At nine she'd woven a dozen rag carpets, an' at ten she spelled down her whole township. She's a fox on English history an' never put on spectacles till a year ago. Milt Bentley went t' work in a tan yard at nine an' worked ten hours a day till he wuz thirty-two. He wuz over six foot six when he died, an' wuz a phenomenal lexicologist an' an authority on th' things th' wars are about. Th' late Henry C. Prick worked in a blacksmith shop in his bare feet when only a child an' often stepped on hot slugs. Th' Lippincott twins, Al an' Alfred, started even. Al wuz apprenticed t' a wagon maker at ten years o' age, an' at thirty he wuz admitted t' th' bar an' wuz an authority on mushrooms. Alford stayed in school till he wuz ole enough t' go t' prison. We're under th' impression that George Washington wuz a fox chaser, an' got his money in other ways t' spend on saddles an' clothes. How- ever, all of our presidents since Washington were hustlers in early life. As Miss Moon fittinly puts it, "Th' saxophone factories are workin' day an' night as things now stand, so t'ry an' imagine how th' menace would double an' treble if all children wuz required by federal statute t' loaf till they wuz eighteen." An' Miss Moon further says: "But aside from th' whole-sale demoralization that would fol- low enforced child loafin', we must consider th' economic side. If full grown labor is t' supplant child labor in our knittin' mills silk stockin' would jump t' thirty-five or forty dollars a pair, so, tender hearted ladies, roll that in your cigarettes an' smoke it." "An, yes," says Finky Kerr, "an' if th' thou- san's o' boys an' girls who are now employed stickin' labels on lemon extract bottles are replaced by men an' women, it's gon' t' cost somethin' t' git 'em up." Kiwanis-Rotary Ball Game Will Be Hot Affair

Clubs Will Meet in Benefit Tilt Friday Evening

All records for attendance at an outdoor athletic event in Torrance will be broken tomorrow night—so say Wallace Post and Hank Ullbright—when the Rotary and Kiwanis indoor ball teams play their much-debated game at the high school grounds. The game was called for several purposes. The proceeds will go to the boys' work funds of the two clubs. And in addition to that the teams were itching to meet one another. Special ground rules have been adopted, but there will be no curb-bits on the rosters, the two captains announce. Tickets cost 25 cents and may be procured from members of the two clubs. A large evening is anticipated. The festivities will start some time around 5:45 p. m.

Dr. and Mrs. George P. Shidler returned Sunday night from a motor trip of several weeks in Washington and Oregon.

Busy Buttons' Budget EVERY department manager in the entire Edison system operates on a budget limiting his expenditures for the year. Why use a budget? Why limit a manager? Simply because good business sense demands it. A private enterprise has no "revolving fund." It cannot fall back on the taxpayers if things go wrong. It cannot arbitrarily vote bonds to pay for mistakes. It cannot indulge in fancy book-keeping. Your Edison manager is called Manager because his technical ability and business judgment enable him to maintain his department at Edison standards and at the same time keep within his budget so that the customer may continue to receive the best of service at uniformly reasonable rates.
